US Open to the Europeans? ...well you never know!

THE INDIVIDUALIST

No other sportsman dresses like him and no other golfer plays like him. Stewart is the man in the multi-coloured plus fours. He strolls around the golf courses of the world like an advert for his clothing sponsors, the National Football League.

He plays the game with a fierce determination to win and matchless self-belief. Before winning his first major championship — the 1992 US Open — Stewart talked one helluva game. His swing was one of the most admired on the USA PGA Tour and he had the dollars rolling in with tour victories aplenty.

THE PLAYOFF

The US Open is the only tournament in the world to force players into a full 18-hole playoff if they finish level after the regulation 72 holes.

Last year was the second US Open running that a Monday finish has been required.

The system comes under scrutiny each time the playoff occurs and yet it still goes on.

This year's US Open from Pebble Beach, California, should be another close finish with Masters winner Fred Couples the automatic favourite.

THE EUROPEANS

Of the Europeans, Nick Faldo has some form in the event (beaten in a playoff by Curtis Strange in 1988) and is playing to a peak. Last year, he never picked up any momentum and finished 16th.

Jose Maria Olazabal was the top European finishing 8th, but appears to be off form. Compatriot Seve Ballesteros didn't even make the cut.

So look to another US winner (there hasn't been a "foreign" champion since Australian David Graham in 1981) and who is to say that Payne Stewart won't repeat? In this age of faceless sportsman, at least you can recognise him in a crowd!

OPEN — ALL HOURS!

As Cable viewers, you'll be exclusively privy to LIVE coverage of all four days of the US Open, each night at 8pm from Thursday 18th — Sunday 21st June, only on SCREENSPORT.

Earn up to £60 by recommending Videotron to your neighbours

You have already enjoyed Videotron for some time. So why not earn up to £60 by helping your neighbours enjoy our services too.

For the first neighbour you recommend, who takes up the Videotron connection, you will receive a credit of £10. For the second, you get £20 and for the third, you get £30 credited to your account*

But that's not all, your neighbours will immediately get an exclusive "Welcome to Videotron" £5 credit, simply because you recommended them.*

All you need to do is send in your own details and the details of the neighbours you are recommending. Videotron staff will then contact your neighbour to make an appointment and to answer any questions they may have, and we will credit your account as soon as they are installed.

Altered images...

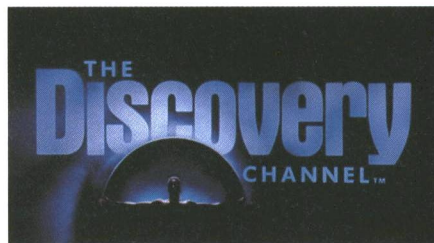

from cellulite to silicon

The human species has never really been content with its natural state.

Would any other animal contemplate having a rib removed just to achieve a smaller waistline!? And what's the betting that there's more silicon in Hollywood today than in Silicon Valley?

How many people do you know who sport a tattoo on their arm or somewhere else not so obvious!! Such has been the human race's obsessive quest to redesign and redecorate its body in ways which are artistic to the quite absurd!

This month Discovery's brand new series, Body Styles, takes a look at many of the most fascinating examples of how we try to transform our appearance — by painting, tattooing and even carving the flesh itself; creating extraordinary effects with hair; altering the shape of our feet, heads, limbs and even our whole physique and devising ingenious forms of dress to reveal or conceal the features with which we are endowed.

When all things are considered, do we really want to be human at all? Body Styles is a four-part series screening on Wednesdays at 8pm and Saturdays at 9.30pm, beginning Wednesday June 17th only on Discovery.

Win a day at Champneys!

Enter our exclusive Videotron competition and you could WIN a day of marvellous pampered luxury at the world's finest health resort — Champneys (sorry — no tummy tucks here)!

Set in a tranquil 170 acre parkland estate on the edge of the Chilterns, Hertfordshire, Champneys is a paradise for pleasure seekers!

The special Health and Beauty Day at the top resort includes one heat treatment (choose from a sauna, spa or steam cabinet), a full body massage, a facial, a manicure and pedicure, shampoo and set or blow-dry, lunch or dinner PLUS full use of the resorts facilities (including gymnasium, jacuzzi, tennis and squash courts and indoor swimming pool)!

Alternatively you may wish to choose Champneys Health and Fitness Day which includes full fitness assessment, heat treatment, full body massage, all-over body rub, low intensity sunbed, use of swimming pool and whirlpool plus a full day's activity and exercise programme (use of gymnasium, tennis and squash courts, and mountain bikes) plus lunch or dinner.

Our winner will be sent a Champneys voucher, valid for one year, and will be able to book their Health and Beauty or Fitness Day on a date of their choice, at their leisure.

Six runner's up will win exclusive Discovery T-shirts and stylish sports bag. It's as simple as answering the two questions in the coupon below:

Children's Channel wins Queen's Award

THE QUEEN has awarded the 'Queen's Award for Export Achievement' to Starstream Ltd, who trade as The Children's Channel. The award recognises the company's outstanding achievement in exporting its service over the last three years. By adapting its English language channel using dubbing techniques and its own in-vision sub-titling system, it has quadrupled its export earnings since 1988.

Starstream Ltd is the first satellite TV channel to win a Queen's Award. 'It is a great honour for us to win this award,' said Richard Wolfe, TCC Chief Executive. 'We have always believed that a channel for children was an unfilled niche in European broadcasting and have worked hard to overcome the language and cultural barriers which have confronted us.'

The Queen's Award for Export Achievement is awarded annually on 21 April, the Queen's personal birthday. The Queen grants the awards on the advice of the Prime Minister, who is assisted by an advisory committee consisting of representatives from industry, commerce, Trade Unions and Government Departments.

Our congratulations to The Children's Channel. ■

DIAMONDS — A SPY'S BEST FRIEND?

The Rhineman Exchange is a feverish drama of passion and espionage that takes place during World War II.

The plot revolves around a secret exchange of information between the Germans and the Americans. The Germans need industrial diamonds for their rocket-launching sites at Peenemunde, while American aircraft industrialists need plans for a high-altitude gyroscope to cover up their own lies about having developed one themselves!

US intelligence officer David Spaulding (Stephen Collins) is chosen to go to Argentina to collect the gyroscope plans, but he knows nothing about the secret exchange and is soon in danger of losing his life.

Enter the beautiful Leslie Jenner Hawkewood, played by one-time super-model Lauren Hutton, whose task is to save Spaulding when the cover is blown on his top-secret mission.

Based on Robert Ludlum's novel, the series was filmed on location in Mexico City and Cuernavaca. ■

Model presenter

▲ 'To be successful you've got to work very hard,' says Sky's lifestyle correspondent and former model Tania Bryer

SKY NEWS'S Sunrise fashion and lifestyle correspondent Tania Bryer is perfectly placed to comment on what's in and what's out — and why.

While she holds a degree in international politics and has tackled journalism and television presenting, Tania also happens to be a former model.

'Modelling is not easy,' she says. 'To be successful you've got to work very hard.'

'It appears superficial and something anyone can do, but in order to project an image and sell the clothes well you've got to be good.'

Personally Tania is unhindered by pressure to follow the designer style she features on Sky News.

'For TV it's what looks good on you and how you carry it off. There are particular jackets that I wear on television that I know will look good, be it the colour, the cut, the shape. And there are also some that will look dreadful.'

Tania's enthusiasm has earned her the nickname 'Tracy Sunshine' given to her by her colleagues. 'It came about when I was presenting the Sky News Sunrise weather,' she recalls.

'I don't mind the name at all, as I probably am quite smiley.' ■

▲ Kunte Kinte finds opportunity less than abundant in the New World – Levar Burton in 'Roots'

Roots of the problem

AUTHOR ALEX HALEY spent much of his childhood in Henning, Tennessee, listening to his Grandmother and other members of his family tell stories they had heard of slaves, 'massas' and plantations. Stories that led back to America's antebellum South and a mysterious man they called 'the African'.

This mysterious figure loomed in the back of Haley's mind for years until 1962, when he embarked on a 12-year odyssey to trace his family history and discover just who 'the African' really was.

The result was Roots, an explosive best-selling novel that laid bare the atrocities of American slavery and segregation in a story that all Black Americans could identify with.

This month Sky One is broadcasting a sizzling 12-hour miniseries based on the novel that traces Haley's own roots from their beginnings deep in Africa, where his people were free, to the Southern plantations of America, where his ancestors were beaten into submission and subjected to a life of slavery.

The cast includes, Levar Star Trek: The Next Generation Burton as Kunta Kinte ('the African'), Lou Gossett as Fiddler, Ben Vereen as Chicken George, the late Vic Morrow as a sadistic overseer and Edward Lou Grant Asner, who puts in a majestic performance as the agonised captain of a slave ship. Plus a great score by Quincy Jones. ■

►► Sky One: Roots Sunday 14th, Monday 15th, Tuesday 16th, Sunday 21st and Monday 22nd, all at 8.00pm ◀◀

What's the beef, Chief?

OVER A 40-year period, three different police chiefs attempt to discover the person responsible for brutally murdering several youths in Chiefs, a three-part mini-series. Charlton Heston returned to TV after a 14-year break to star in it as one of the founding fathers of Delano, where the murders occur. Keith Carradine and Stephen Collins also star. ■

►► Sky One: Chiefs continues on June 1st and 2nd at 8.00pm (part one was on Sunday May 31st at 8.00pm) ◀◀

Citizen of the world

Born in Bermuda but taught in Beirut, she has a US accent but a British passport! It's no wonder that Hilary Bowker presents The International Hour

ASK HILARY BOWKER where she is from and you will find there is no short answer.

For the presenter of CNN's The International Hour has, appropriately, an impressively cosmopolitan background.

She was born in Bermuda and has lived in Canada, Switzerland, Lebanon and Italy. She has settled in the UK, speaks with an American accent but has a British passport. Oh, and she speaks fluent Italian and French.

'I have never actually lived in the States,' she told Cable Guide in her American drawl.

For an insight into her background-without-frontiers, Hilary explains that her father was born in Britain, her mother in Canada, while Hilary herself lived in Beirut for several years and attended an American school there.

Her broadcasting career started as a freelance journalist for America's ABC, where she covered the Naples earthquake, hostage crises, the royal wedding, and the Middle East.

Stints at Canadian Television and ABC News London followed before Hilary decided it might be nice to stop the globetrotting. 'You get tired of hotel rooms, airports and airplanes after a while.'

Hilary is now CNN's London anchor and presents the daily cut-ins during CNN International's World News programmes and co-anchors its daily news programme The International Hour with Frank Sesno in Washington.

'This is, I believe, the only live programme co-anchored out of Washington and London.'

'It is what it says it is. It's not focused on news from any one place but on the most important news from around the world. You're not just getting the Washington angle but a British and European angle.'

Writing and presenting the programme has been a challenge, Hilary says. 'You have to be on top of all the stories you are covering so that at a moment's notice you can do an intelligent interview. I've got to make sure I know what's going on just about everywhere.'

She also knows what is going on when politicians evade her questions. Having covered the recent General Election, Hilary admits politicians can be 'difficult'.

'I think they get on a loop and they say the same things over and over again despite the question. The question often is of little relevance.'

'They've got a message and their own agenda and they follow it despite what you might ask. So it can be very frustrating.'

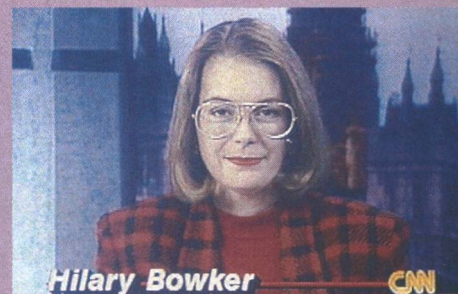

'You have to politely remind them of the question.'

The International Hour has its lighter moments, though. Not all the stories covered are of earth-shattering importance, Hilary explains.

'There was a story about this French guy who went to get married. Through some mess-up the bureaucrats were convinced he was dead so he couldn't get a marriage licence!'

The mix of stories is an important ingredient.

Hilary explains: 'We're trying to get a network on air that means something to people everywhere around the world.'

Boy meets girl

DID YOUR MOTHER tell you to beware of strangers? Of course she did! But Sky Television's answer to Blind Date can have you falling in love with one!

The popular dating gameshow Love at First Sight gave Julie Elliott the opportunity to be whisked away on a romantic evening with the possible man of her dreams.

Julie, aged 21, from Coulsdon, South London, was chosen to star on the show after a promising interview in November last year. She had applied to be on the show after watching the programme virtually every night on cable television.

'I was contacted in January and went to Granada Television's studios in Manchester for the filming in February.'

Julie was introduced to presenter Bruno Brookes and his co-presenter Helen Brumby. After a guided tour around the set, Julie spent most of the day having her hair styled and face made up.

Love is in the air when Helen Brumby and Bruno Brookes present 'Love at First Sight'

'The set is really huge compared to what you actually see on television. The beauticians make you up so well. Choosing an outfit to wear was fun because it had to look good on camera.'

Unlike Blind Date, Love at First Sight enables the contestants to choose their partner by seeing them face to face, rather than imagining their identity through only their voice. Contestants give their own replies to questions, rather than pre-arranged answers given to them by the producers.

'The answers are definitely not fixed. What you say is an instant reaction to what you have been asked,' insists Julie.

She was kept apart from the male contestants during the day, leaving her to use her imagination as to what the three men looked like.

'Two of the male contestants were quite good looking, the other one was o.k. They weren't exceptionally good looking, although I had eye contact with one of them all through the show!'

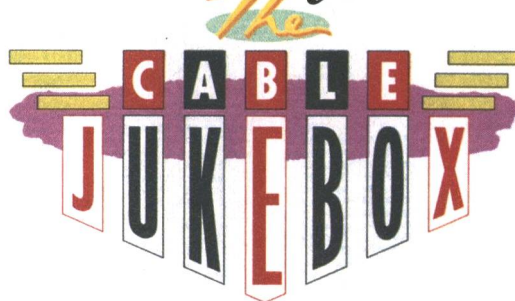

The experience of appearing on television didn't seem to worry Julie, unlike one of her co-contestants.

'One of the girls next to me panicked and kept saying as the set revolved to face the audience that she couldn't do it. But after a while you don't notice the audience and cameras, you just concentrate on the blokes.'

Did Julie get picked? You'll just have to watch Love at First Sight on Sky One on Wednesday 3rd at 7.00pm and find out for yourself! ■

Is Paris burning?

The energy of one of the world's most dynamic rock bands will be unleashed LIVE on Sky Movies Plus, as the outrageous Guns N' Roses take to the stage of Paris's Hippodrome De Vincennes on Saturday 6th.

Still riding high on the success of the double double-album release of Use Your Illusion I and II, the band recently embarked on the second leg of their world tour, led by the charismatic Axl Rose.

With their profile at an all-time high after appearing at the recent Freddie Mercury tribute, Guns N' Roses have become one of the music world's top box-office draws.

During the course of the two-hour show the band can be expected to run through such hits as Paradise City, Sweet Child of Mine, Live and Let Die and Don't Cry, as well as tracks from the two Illusion volumes and their predecessors Appetite for Destruction and Lie.

And that's not all. Diehard fans of Axl's outrageous crew can plug into MTV's Guns N' Roses Weekend, which will include videos, interviews and footage old and new. ■

10 Guns N' Roses CDs must be won!

Here's a chance to win a copy of one of the band's smash hit CDs, Use Your Illusion I or II, or an MTV T-shirt.

Just answer these simple questions:

1 What is Axl Rose's real name?

2 Name Guns N' Roses first drummer

The first 10 correct entries will win a CD copy of either Use Your Illusion I or Use Your Illusion II from Geffen Records. MTV T-shirts will go to the first 10 runners up.

Entries on a postcard to Guns N' Roses Competition, The Editor, Cable Guide, Communications House, 5 Factory Lane, Croydon CR9 3RA

What's in a name? The uncompromisingly volatile Axl Rose leads his troops into action on Saturday 6th ▲

The biggest band in the world will come together on Sunday 28th for Britain's first National Music Day, one day dedicated specially to music-making by people of all ages throughout Britain.

Since the original launch more than 1200 events have been registered, including a massive Wembley concert starring Eric Clapton and Elton John.

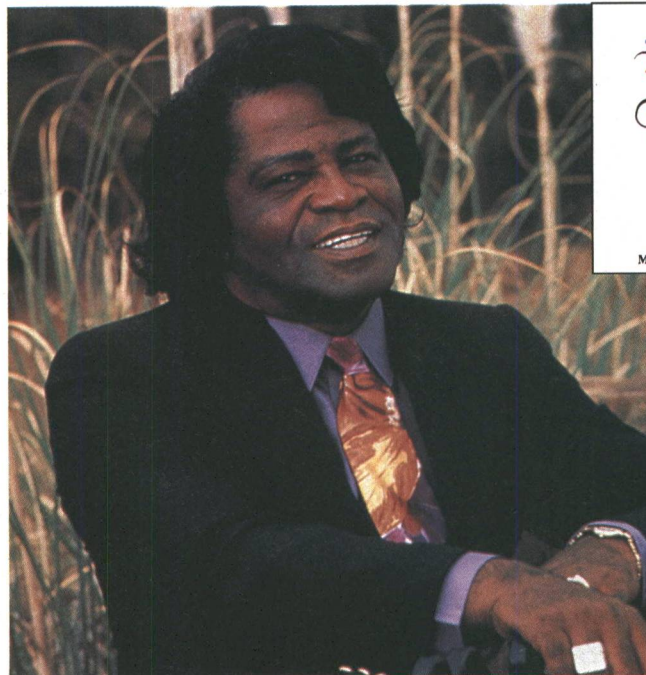

National Music Day was conceived by then Arts Minister Tim Renton and Mick Jagger, who had been impressed by a similar annual event in France.

Events tied to National Music Day will take place from midnight on Saturday 27th to midnight on Sunday 28th, and will cover everything from classical and choral to jazz, blues, rock and reggae.

MTV will provide coverage of various events over the weekend, including the Wembley Concert, and The Discovery Channel will be marking the event with a music documentary on Godfather of Soul James Brown, with special guests Michael Jackson, MC Hammer and Little Richard. ■

ALL-STAR ATTRACTIONS

THE SHELTERING SKY

Movie Channel Monday 8th 10.05pm

John Malkovich, Debra Winger and Campbell Scott star in Bertolucci's adaptation of Paul Bowles' harrowing cult novel about the love affair between existential travellers Kit and Port Moresby.

A 160-strong crew worked in the sweltering heat of the Sahara desert, part of which was a team of 'desert sweepers' whose unenviable task was to erase all footprints from the sand, while more than 3 million specially bred flies were imported from Italy to create a 'black snow effect'.

John Malkovich is due to return to the screen shortly in a new adaptation of Steinbeck's Of Mice and Men.

SCARFACE Sky Movies Plus Tuesday 2nd 11.30pm

Al Pacino delivers a powerhouse performance in Brian De Palma's ferocious update of the 1932 classic.

Liberally peppering the script with four-letter words which Pacino spits out with relish, De Palma and scriptwriter Oliver Stone chart the rise and subsequent fall of Cuban immigrant and drug-dealing gangster Tony Montana.

Michelle Pfeiffer stars opposite Pacino as the drug-dealer's long-suffering wife, anticipating the pair's recent re-teaming in last year's romantic comedy Frankie and Johnny.

THE BIG PICTURE Movie Channel Sunday 7th 8.15pm

Directed by This Is Spinal Tap star Christopher Guest, this riotous comedy set in movieland stars Kevin Bacon and Emily Longstreth, but is also sprinkled with cameo performances by myriad celebrity cameos including John Cleese, Elliott Gould, Roddy McDowall, Eddie Albert and June Lockhart.

GHOST DAD Sunday 21st 6.15pm Movie Channel

Cuddly sit-com star Bill Cosby stars as a kindly but deceased single father who returns from the beyond to check up on his children. Directed by Oscar-winning actor and sometime Cosby co-star Sidney Poitier.

GREMLINS 2: THE NEW BATCH

Sky Movies Plus Sunday 21st 8.00pm

Director Joe Dante is at it again, as special effects guru Rick Baker's creations return in force after a six-year lay-off.

Although Zach Galligan and Phoebe Cates still occupy the lead roles, and not forgetting horror master Chris Lee's droll appearance as a mad genetics scientist, the sequel belongs to the creatures and no one else, as the reptilian Gremlins transform themselves into living vegetables, animated stone gargoyles and even a chorus line of Broadway dancers.

TEXASVILLE Movie Channel Tuesday 30th 11.40pm

Remember Peter Bogdanovich's super The Last Picture Show (1971), a moody black and white study of the down-side of life in small-town Texas that won Oscars for Cloris Leachman and Ben Johnson? Well this is the colour sequel, made nearly 20 years later, in which Bogdanovich catches up with all his old characters.

Annie Potts stars as Jeff Bridges' new wife who is powerless to do anything but look on as her husband rekindles his former romance with old flame Cybill Shepherd. Jumpin' Jehosaphat! (Movie Channel is also showing The Last Picture Show on Monday 15th at 8.05pm).

Freddy's pillow stalk . . .

'SEE FREDDY - before he sees you!' warned New Line Cinema's publicity more than 12 years ago, and, incredibly, despite weak storylines and repetitive shock scenes, that is just what countless fans have been doing ever since - going to see Freddy.

Six movies later, the razor-fingered rogue's popularity continues to grow, although his latest manifestation, Freddy's Dead, may just grant the wishes of critics who have suggested that 'it is time Freddy was laid to rest'.

'Freddy is the Bogey Man,' says actor Robert Englund incisively. 'He invades even the most private parts of our being.' Make-up man Kevin Yager describes him as 'the Wicked Witch of the West for a new generation'.

All banter aside, fans of the man with the jaunty hat and rough complexion will thrill to

A Nightmare on Elm Street: The Dream Child, showing on Sky Movies Plus this month, in which Freddy continues his intrusion into the dream world of America's teenagers by attempting to possess a young girl's unborn child.

The special effects are up to their usual spine-chilling standards, but the scariest idea of all is the continuing threat that the nightmare will never end, drawing inevitable comparisons with other stalk and slash offerings. Not a bit of it. 'While the Friday the 13th series makes less money with each successive outing, our films make more and more,' says Englund ■

Never rat on your friends

GoodFellas* is a superbly made film that is all the more chilling for being a true story

'MR GOTTI is too intelligent to waste his time on nonsensical movies like this,' said Bruce Cutler, the lawyer of real-life Godfather John Gotti.

The movie he was condemning was Martin Scorsese's tremendous 1990 gangster film, GoodFellas, which gets its TV premiere on Sky Movies Plus this month. 'This is a government propaganda movie,' the lawyer continued. 'It makes a hero out of paid government witnesses.'

As Gotti is now facing life in prison after being implicated by a former henchman in the murder of his predecessor, Paul Castellano, it is easy to see why there is some touchiness about breaking the mafia's code of silence.

While it is daft to call GoodFellas 'government propaganda', the movie's depiction of a 'wiseguy' or 'goodfella' betraying his partners in crime to the authorities was very near the bone.

That is because it is based on the life of a genuine mobster, Henry Hill.

As a half-Irish half-Sicilian Brooklyn kid, Hill was adopted by mobsters at the age of 11 and raised to be a faithful member of their 'family'.

GoodFellas highlights his high-risk lifestyle for the next three decades, the squalid glamour of

A Goldie opportunity!

IN BIRD ON A WIRE Mel Gibson is back, this time as Rick Jarmin, a man who is suddenly forced to confront his past when old girlfriend Marianne Graves (Goldie Hawn) and a ruthless pack of killers catch up with him at the same time. Running for their lives, the couple soon discovers that love can bloom again, even on a deadly roller-coaster ride, on a precarious bridge over a chasm filled with ravenous wild animals, or midway across a raft after 20 storeys up.

Bird on a Wire marked the end of Hawn's 'dizzy blonde' being a gangster with staggeringly savage pals like Jimmy 'The Gent' (Robert De Niro) and Tommy (Joe Pesci, who won a best-supporting actor Oscar).

Scorsese does not flinch from including their dreadful violence, some of which – like Tommy's maiming of a teenager who is slow with his drink – is nonchalant and disturbing.

But an unforgettable sequence gives a seductive impression of how cool a feared criminal can feel. Scorsese's camera follows Hill (played by Ray Liotta) and his new girlfriend (Oscar-nominee Lorraine Bracco) into a nightclub, where waiters and lesser mobsters show him cringing respect and give him star treatment.

It all ends in tears, however, when Hill faces 25 years in jail for narcotics conspiracy. His life-long friends would like to think he wouldn't rat on them. But there is only sure guarantee of Henry's silence . . .

Jimmy's first piece of advice to the young Henry had been, 'Never rat on your friends and always keep your mouth shut.' Now faced with execution by his friend, Henry sees betrayal as the only way to save himself.

Today the Witness Protection Programme shields the real Henry Hill with a new identity. Since 1980 he has had to become a new person at least four times to keep ahead of mafia vengeance.

On one occasion a random check by an FBI wiretap saved his life. The call was to a waterfront New York bar informing on Henry's whereabouts. The caller had his false name, address and his car licence plate number.

On that occasion Federal agents got to him first . . . ■

Flashback on Torchy!

From early children's puppet shows like The Adventures of Twizzle to the futuristic success of Thunderbirds, the little worlds of Gerry Anderson have enthralled TV viewers for more than a generation. With video sales rocketing and Thunderbirds enjoying renewed popularity on BBC2, the time has come for the return on Cable TV of . . . Torchy the Battery Boy.

The endearing Torchy the Battery Boy first appeared in 1960, and more than 30 years later his light still shines.

Torchy is a wind-up toy fashioned by loveable old Mr Bumble-drop, who has given him a battery so that he can walk and talk like real boys. He also wears a helmet with a light in it, which turns out to be a magic bulb that answers all of his questions.

Torchy and his predecessor, Twizzle, were the creations of Roberta Leigh, who also wrote all the stories and songs, but puppeteer Gerry Anderson directed the programmes, which became the springboard for more ambitious projects that would bring him international fame.

Through AP Films, later Century 21 Productions, Anderson developed his concept of 'Supermarination', and embarked on a series of sci-fi epics, including Supercar, Fireball XL5, Stingray, Thunderbirds, Captain Scarlet and Joe 90, all of which attained cult status.

With the 1970s he moved, less successfully perhaps, into live-action science-fiction programmes like UFO and Space 1999, and also into feature films with Journey to the Far Side of the Sun.

The 1980s saw a return to his original concept of marination with Terrahawks and Dick Spanner PI, but these were less popular than his earlier triumphs, which by now were selling on video in their thousands. ■

Can Payne Stewart match last year's effort? Can he match anything at all? Find out on Screensport. We've got live coverage on all four days of the U.S. Open. In fact, golf fans, there's also live coverage on all four days of both the Irish and French Open. And the Austrian Open and

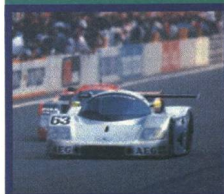

Memorial Tournament from Ohio. Basketball aficionados are also well served this month. We've got exclusively live coverage of the NBA Finals, which will probably feature the Chicago Bulls and their top shoe salesman, Michael Jordan. Now to American football. But not, unfortunately, to the London Monarchs. We've got the second World Bowl Final live, and they, like the rest of us will be sitting at home with a couple of beers (bitter, most likely) watching it on Screensport. (If you're reading, tough luck chaps.) To finish off with, there's the Le Mans 24 hour race, though Le Women can watch it too. You shouldn't miss any of the action. THE LAZY MAN'S WAY TO A MILLION

"Seven months ago I sent you a cheque for £19.95, and in just three weeks your system made me £6,500. Thank you very much!"

S.R. London

"A £45,000 thank you for your system. That's how much I've netted using it."

P.S. Belfast

"I thought that at £19.95 it was nothing more than a shot in the dark - £19,000 in my first six months says I was wrong. It's as easy as falling off a log."

R.F. Tyne & Wear

WHATS ALL THE FUSS? - Well let me tell you. The above letters are only a small sample of the ever growing collection that I receive every week, and they are all sent in VOLUNTARILY! IN THEIR WORDS and not mine their lives have been transformed using a system for which the last five years I have come to call "The Lazy Man's Way To a Million."

These people inform me that before sending away for the system they were, in the majority working class people with middle class debts! Most had never even dreamed of getting out of the hole they were in.

Yes I would agree that you may be sceptical of such stories of wealth accumulation, but no more than I was! What got rid of my scepticism? Well, five years ago I took a chance and heeded some advice which a wealthy friend gave to me. "It's not how hard you work, BUT HOW SMART!"

Within eighteen months of our first meeting I had adopted his system for making money and my whole life had been turned upside down. I had gone from a rented council house to an eight bedroom mansion in the country. Now I can safely say that I don't work hard any more - just smart. Let me ask you a simple question if I may. Do you work hard? - If you do, then are you earning RIGHT NOW what you think you deserve, and are you driving that sports car of your dreams? If you're not then it's not very smart is it?

I am prepared to stick my neck out and put my reputation on the line. I will GUARANTEE that my system will work for you just as it worked for the people above within the next THIRTY DAYS OR YOU PAY NOTHING! Guarantee it? YES, let me tell you that this system for making enormous amounts of money has never failed for anybody I know who has put it into action.

Recently, a friend of mine who was earning around £11,000 p.a. told me that he was looking for a career change. In his first TEN DAYS he had earned £5,500 operating "The Lazy Man's Way To A Million." And by the way, before you ask - yes this system is 100% legal.

I will give you thirty days to try the system out for yourself. If you return it to me within thirty days in good condition, telling me that you are not 100% delighted with it, then you will receive your £19.95 back - IN FULL - NO QUESTIONS ASKED!

I'm prepared to risk my reputation if you're prepared to risk a 22p stamp! That's the worst that could possibly happen to you if all of my claims are unfounded. But for the cost of a stamp let me just ask you one final question. WHAT IF I'M RIGHT! You have everything to gain and nothing to lose. It's your choice!

There were 252 episodes of Bewitched (1964 to 1972). Dick York was Darrin from 1964 to 1969; Dick Sargent had the role until 1972. Tabitha ran for an unknown number of episodes from 1977 to 1978. When the going gets tough, get Platt!

Leading by example – David Platt playing for Bari

David Platt's formidable will to win could be essential to England's European Championship campaign. He tells 'Cable Guide' how luck and hard graft have made him one of Europe's top footballers

ALTHOUGH EUROPE'S most dazzling footballers and daunting teams stand between England and glory in Sweden, manager Graham Taylor does have one player whose trademark is winning against difficult odds.

David Platt was dumped by Manchester United as a teenager. At Fourth Division Crewe he was part of a team that came within two games of going down and out of the League.

Platt's career survived both encounters. This year he again confounded the doom-mongers by captaining with distinction modest Bari of Italy's Serie A.

His unforgettable last-gasp goal against Belgium in the World Cup quarter-finals typified his habit of stealing unforeseen glories – and started the rumours that he would leave Aston Villa. Where the likes of Ian Rush and Luther Blissett flopped, Platt shrugged off the burden of his £5.5million price tag, scored plenty of goals from midfield and captained his relegation-threatened side with enough guts to make the mega-spenders of Milan, Roma, Napoli and Juventus take serious notice.

'I haven't had any pressure on me,' is Platt's surprising remark to Cable Guide. 'If you don't let things get to you there's not any pressure. I take it all with a pinch of salt.' But Platt's self-effacement in the shadow of the mountainous expectations of his Italian supporters masks a fierce desire to succeed.

'Just because someone's cost £5.5million doesn't mean they're a better player. I still have to go out and prove I can play.'

The key to Platt's level-headedness must be his early days at the unglamorous end of English football.

'If I could wind the clock back

David Platt warms up for Bari's match with Foggia

there's nothing I would do differently because you learn from your mistakes,' he explains.

'I remember Crewe were within two games of going out of the League. You never know where luck is going to take you. A mixture of luck and hard work has got me where I am.'

Where is he? These days it is in a beautiful £700,000 villa on the Adriatic earning a reported £14,000 a week.

'I love the food and the relaxed way of life,' he says. 'I have been on TV programmes and spoken in Italian. I make mistakes with the verbs but you just carry on learning.'

Where the eyes of some footballers would have rung up pound signs at the speculation that Juventus were ready to tempt him with even more riches than Bari, Platt is once again disdainful.

'I don't believe in anything until it actually happens. I have lived with transfer speculation since the World Cup. If you believe what you read in the papers Juventus will be signing 150 players.'

Platt will be 26 years old on 10 June, the opening day of the European Championship. Bari fans have enjoyed watching the Englishman turning up uninvited in the opposition's penalty area to pinch goals.

His combative presence in midfield has also endeared him to the supporters, but it is likely he will be bringing something new to his England performances. It is clear that playing in Italy against the world's top stars has enhanced his game.

Italian teams retreat into their own half when they lose the ball. 'That means there's less space in the area you are attacking. But that sharpens your game because you have to be quicker. You have to know what you are going to do with the ball before you get it.'

When Gary Lineker vacates the England captaincy after Sweden, manager Graham Taylor may give the armband to the man he rescued from Crewe in his previous job as Aston Villa boss.

'I would be tremendously honoured,' says Platt.

'Whether I'm captain or not, I will still play the same game. I'll still shout a lot and play a captain's role.'

'But it is a hard enough task staying in the England squad as it is. You shouldn't even start thinking about the honour of captaincy.' ■

DAVID PLATT'S FORM GUIDE

'If we do meet the Germans I hope it is in the Final. They go far in every competition. The World Champions will be very dangerous. For me, they are a balanced side, very strong, and they are always well prepared for the tournaments. They have quality players like Matthaus, and Klinsmann up front is always causing problems.'

'The Dutch have some very good players. Koeman, Rijkaard, Gullit, and Van Basten - he's in tremendous form.'

'Then there's the French. Although we beat them at Wembley, that's just one game. In the first half they played very well and if they had scored first it might have been a different game. Anything can happen now.'

'European sides are more worried about the England team than they are about our individual players. They are impressed with the way we work, with our character and how we never give in during the whole 90 minutes. But obviously with Gary Lineker's scoring record, they will clamp down on him. Gary's had to face that all his career and he's managed it.' ■

Durie's verdict on Scotland

'We play better against the harder teams.' Scotland's Gordon Durie is relaxed about facing the champions of Europe and the World . . .

'THE PRESSURE'S OFF US,' says Scotland goal-getter Gordon Durie. 'It's the first time we've ever qualified for the European Championships so we're going over there to enjoy it and hopefully surprise a few people.'

Those soccer Goliaths, in the form of World Champions Germany and reigning European Champions Holland, threaten to make it the shortest of debuts. But while the likes of Iran, Peru and Costa Rica have made the Scots blush deeply at past World Cups, Scotland's giant-killing potential is well known.

'It's going to be tough for us,' says Durie. 'But when we've qualified for the most recent World Cups we've played better against the harder teams.'

'In 1990 everyone thought we'll get past Costa Rica and then play the hard games. But it went the other way. We were disappointed against Costa Rica, we beat Sweden and although we lost to Brazil we played very well against them.'

'Really, it's eight good teams that are going to Sweden so there won't be any easy games. We've picked the harder group of the two but that could be good for us.'

Can Durie explain Scotland's knack of stumbling horribly against minnows but occasionally outplaying the big boys?

'We would all love to know why! It's the challenge of playing a better team than yours.'

Now aged 26, Durie believes his season with Tottenham has made him better equipped than ever for those challenges.

'Playing in internationals against the best defenders in the world, you don't get much time or space so it will be a big test.'

'Gary Lineker's one of the best strikers in the world and he's given me a few pointers here and there. I think the year I've had with him has made me a better player.'

Durie is philosophical about the gamesmanship Scotland can expect in Sweden, as typified by Germany's Jurgen Klinsmann, a formidable striker who doubles as an amateur actor following some tackles.

'It's all a bit frustrating,' Durie says. 'A lot of people are trying to stick it out of the game but these things happen and you've really just got to get on with it.'

When asked as a top attacker to nominate the defender most likely to distinguish himself in Sweden, Durie chooses an Englishman!

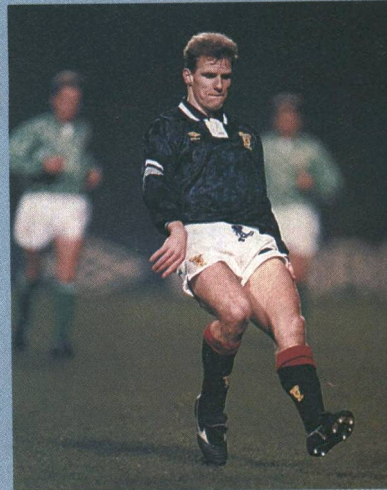

'I think Des Walker will probably show how good a player he is. He's the best I've played against in this country.'

Scotland manager Andy Roxburgh will be pleased that Durie has recently begun to regularly find the goal again for Spurs after a loss of form that lasted several months.

Durie is determined to keep the goals coming to give the fans something to cheer. 'The Scottish support is one of the most passionate in the world. Hopefully we'll get a few going over to Sweden and we can do the business for them.'

And what of an England-Scotland final?

'That would be nice. But England have a hard group as well. There are a lot of hard games to go before that materialises . . .'

Who's who in Sweden 92

'The European Championships are not like the World Cup where you sometimes come up against a weak team,' says French manager Michel Platini. 'In Sweden only the best will be there.' Here is the full line-up . . .

SWEDEN (group 1)

HOME SIDES often do well in these championships (Spain: 1964, Italy: 1968 and France: 1984) and manager Tommy Swensson has prepared his team thoroughly. Players to watch: Martin Dahlin, Kennet Andersson, Tomas Brolin and Arsenal's Anders Limpar.

FRANCE (group 1)

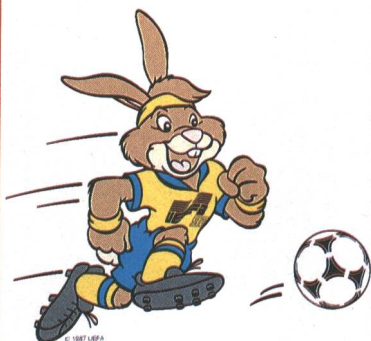

ONE OF the favourites. Manager Michel Platini can count on a team full of great potential with highly talented players who won every qualifying match. A fine balance of flair and steel in their play. Players to watch: Jean-Pierre Papin, Christian Perez, Laurent Blanc, Bruno Martini.

YUGOSLAVIA (group 1)

THEY WENT goal daft in the qualifiers finishing as top scorers with 24 for and 4 against! If home troubles are not too distracting they could be the tournament's dark horse side. Players to watch: Darko Pancev, Dejan Savicevic, Faruk Hadzibegic and Dragan Stojkovic.

ENGLAND (group 1)

THEY HAVE a poor record in this tournament but having reached the World Cup semi-finals and qualified without defeat, they promise to do well. Hard to defeat though sometimes unconvincing in victory. Players to watch: David Platt, Mark Wright, Des Walker, Alan Shearer.

HOLLAND (group 2)

NO TEAM has ever managed to retain the European Cup but the present Champions have the speed and technical prowess to be the first to do so. Players to watch: Hans Van Breukelen, Marco Van Basten, Ronald Koeman, Ruud Gullit and Frank Rijkaard.

SCOTLAND (group 2)

HAVING QUALIFIED for the last five World Cups their debut in these Finals was overdue. The World and European Champions will kick themselves if Scotland embarrass them. Players to watch: Richard Gough, Gordon Strachan, Ally McCoist and Gordon Durie.

CIS (group 2)

THEY LEFT Italy and Hungary behind in their qualifying group and are determined to improve on their Final appearance in 1988. Must beat Holland or Germany. Players to watch: Tzhadadze, Mikhailichenko, Kiryakov and Manchester United's Kanchelskis.

GERMANY (GROUP 2)

THE FAVOURITES. Three times World Champions, three times runners-up; twice European Champions, once runners-up. They struggled to qualify but win when it matters. Players to watch: Voller, Buchwald, Brehme, Riedle, Kohler . . . you could go on.

Below: flashback to 1988 as Marco Van Basten evades a Russian tackle in the Final; and Germany's Rudi Voller, right

For the record

THE 1992 Championship in Sweden is the seventh time the tournament has been held, or the ninth time if you count the two European Nations' Cups which preceded it. This is how the finals have ended:

1960
USSR 2 Yugoslavia 1
(venue: Paris)

1964
Spain 2 USSR 1
(venue: Madrid)

1968
Italy 2 Yugoslavia 0
after 1-1 draw
(venue: Rome)

1972
West Germany 3 USSR 0
(venue: Brussels)

1976
Czech. 2 West Germany 2
Czech. won 5-3 on penalties
(venue: Belgrade)

1980
W Germany 2 Belgium 1
(venue: Rome)

1984
France 2 Spain 0
(venue: Paris)

1988
Holland 2 USSR 0
(venue: Munich)

England's best position was third in 1968.

FRANCE WAS the only team to secure maximum points in the qualifying stages while three other teams remained unbeaten: the CIS, England and Ireland.

THE TOP goalscorers' category was dominated by three of Europe's deadliest strikers: Darko Pancev (Yugoslavia) with 10 goals; Jean-Pierre Papin (France) with 9 goals; and Marco Van Basten (Holland) with 8.

ENGLAND'S LAST friendly before the European Championships is away to Finland on Wednesday 2nd. For an idea of what Graham Taylor's final squad of 24 will be watch the match exclusively live on Sky Sports at 4.30pm.

ROYAL ANNIVERSARY SOUVENIR

YOURS FREE if you purchase all four models in our 1992 Charities Collection.

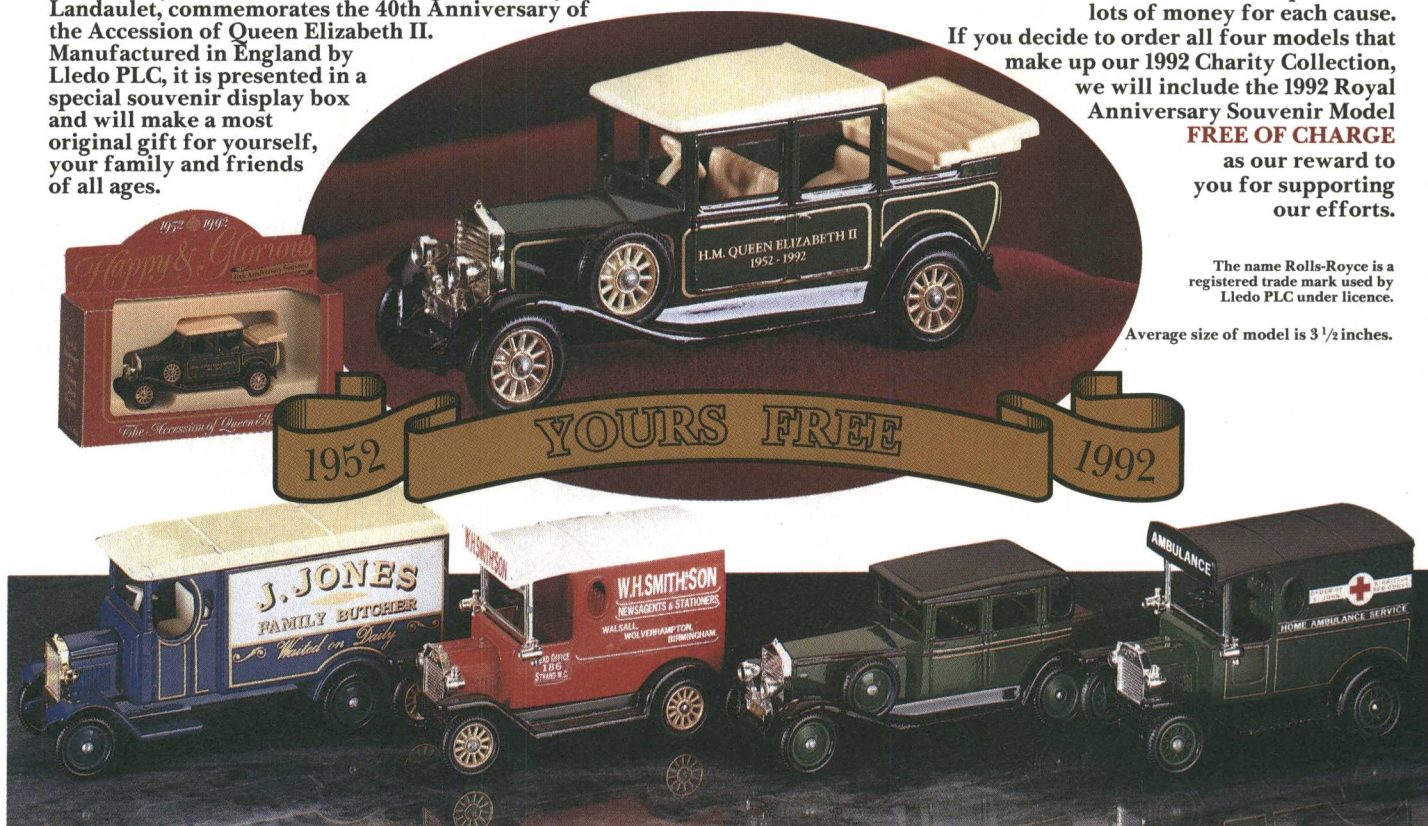

This stately die-cast miniature vintage Rolls-Royce Landaulet, commemorates the 40th Anniversary of the Accession of Queen Elizabeth II. Manufactured in England by Lledo PLC, it is presented in a special souvenir display box and will make a most original gift for yourself, your family and friends of all ages.

It is always good, whatever your age, to consider those less fortunate than ourselves. Lledo PLC are supporting the terrific work of four charities in 1992 and hope to raise lots of money for each cause.

If you decide to order all four models that make up our 1992 Charity Collection, we will include the 1992 Royal Anniversary Souvenir Model FREE OF CHARGE as our reward to you for supporting our efforts.

The name Rolls-Royce is a registered trade mark used by Lledo PLC under licence.

Average size of model is 3 1/2 inches.

Specially commissioned in association with BEN, the Motor and Allied Trades Benevolent Fund, who care for any person employed in the motor and allied trades. This die-cast model is based upon the J. Jones Family Butchers Van which featured so prominently in the classic BBC TV comedy series Dad's Army. The actual vehicle can be seen at Autoworld, The Patrick Collection, Kings Norton, Birmingham.

Ben

This Model 'T' Ford is a replica of the news delivery vans in use circa 1920 and is one of three die-cast models that form the W H Smith Group Bicentenary Collection. 1992 marks the Bicentenary year for W H Smith who are raising £1 million for the Samaritans Link-Line Appeal - a single telephone number that will enable callers wherever they are in the country always to get through to a Samaritans branch.

This Rolls-Royce 'D' Back Limousine is derived from the actual car presented to Lord Baden-Powell, the Chief Scout, in 1929 when the movement celebrated its 21st birthday. 1992 sees the launch of the Scout Association National Promise Appeal where they aim to raise £10 million for the development of Scouting in disadvantaged inner city and rural areas and to strengthen existing groups as well as funding new ones.

This Model 'T' Ford is typical of the hardworking Ambulances found in our towns and cities during the 1920's including Guy's Hospital in the centre of London. Each year hundreds of children pass through the Guy's Evelina Children's Unit where it costs 58 pence each minute to operate just one intensive care cot. Over the past eight years £4 million has been raised allowing this unit to treat many babies and children with respiratory problems, heart disease, and kidney failure.

LLEDO PLC are an established British Manufacturer dedicated to producing superior die-cast models of vintage vehicles.

All the models illustrated are made with meticulous attention to detail in keeping with the craftsmanship of the era they represent. Consequently Lledo models are fast becoming sought after by collectors all around the world.

Eubank struts on . . .

The man many fight fans love to loathe, Chris Eubank, is back in the ring this month for his eighth world-title fight in 19 months

CHRIS EUBANK'S single-minded strut to a wealthy retirement goes on.

On Saturday 27th the 25-year-old WBO super-middleweight champion from Brighton meets American Ron Essett at a specially erected 4000-seater arena at the swanky golf resort of Quinta Do Lago in Portugal.

Once again fight fans will anxiously await a Eubank bout on Screensport, many hoping that he gets a good beating such is the hostility he arouses.

For a British champ unbeaten in 31 professional fights to attract the strong feelings Eubank does is a sign that he is a fighter out of the ordinary.

In his quest to screw financial security for himself out of a sport he shows contempt for, Eubank is a businessman first and boxer second.

He is unabashed his risk-free approach to picking opponents. Why won't he give the fans and promoters what they want, a return fight with Nigel Benn?

He would love to. Just promise him £1 million!

And then there is the way he projects himself. When the 12-stone Eubank brushed aside his previous opponent, American John Jarvis, in three rounds last April he displayed the usual arrogance in the ring.

After round one he shunned trainer Ronnie Davies's attempt to remove his gum shield, preferring to strike various Mr Atlas poses in his corner, flexing his muscles, and staring into the audience for several seconds.

Jarvis was drafted in to replace Ron Essett, who in turn was a replacement for Eubank's original first-choice challenger in April, Juan Carlos Gimenez.

This month Essett is back in the picture.

Eubank may eventually be obliged to make a mandatory defence against his number-one challenger Benn, who has agreed to step aside for now to allow his rival's defence against Essett.

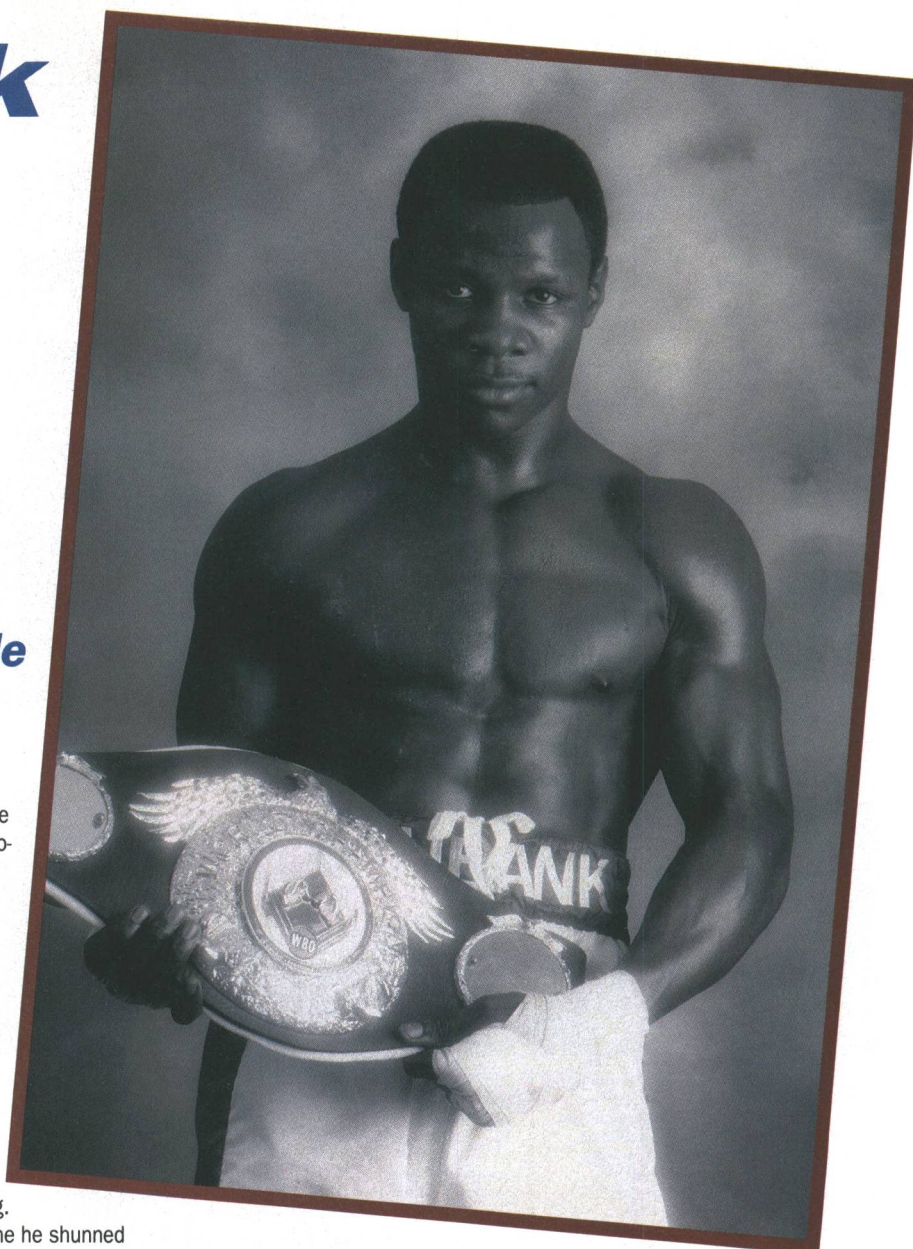

If the WBO enforce a fight with Benn should Eubank defeat Essett as expected, the champion has hinted that he would rather vacate the title.

'This is democracy,' he is reported as saying.

'The only thing I have to do is stay black and die.'

While Eubank can at the moment draw crowds for fights against third-choice challengers (6100 turned up for Jarvis) who present no urgent threat to his title, his claim to be a genuine 'world' champion may soon come under closer scrutiny. ■

Payne thriller for Pebble Beach?

Screensport is showing all four days of the US Open live. Can a European win the event or will it be another American who ends up celebrating?

PAYNE STEWART IS one of a kind. No other sportsman dresses like him and no other golfer plays like him. Stewart is the man in the multi-coloured plus fours. He strolls around the golf courses of the world like an advert for his clothing sponsors, the National Football League.

He plays the game with a fierce determination to win and matchless self-belief. Before winning his first major championship – the 1991 US Open – Stewart talked one helluva game. His swing was one of the most admired on the US PGA Tour and he had dollars rolling in with tour victories aplenty.

But until last season, there were no majors. An early season injury kept his playing time down to a minimum in 1991 and Stewart was easily the freshest player in the US Open field. Yet, as in all tournament victories, he needed his share of luck to pull off the title.

Fellow American Scott Simpson – the 1987 winner – was ahead going into the final holes but crumbled on both the final day and the playoff day, so letting Stewart sneak by on the same course (Hazelton, Minnesota) that Tony Jacklin won on in 1970.

The US Open is the only tournament in the world to force players into a full 18-hole playoff if they finish level after the regulation 72 holes. Last year was the second US Open running that a Monday morning finish has been required. In 1991 Stewart's 75 won from Simpson's 77 – not the great advertisement for golf that many people want to see.

The system comes under scrutiny each time the playoff happens and yet it still goes on. You won't find Payne Stewart arguing against the 18-hole playoff. His slow starting in last year's event meant he needed all the holes he could get to catch up with the leader.

This year's US Open from Pebble Beach, California, will be another close finish with Masters winner Fred Couples the automatic favourite.

Of the Europeans, Nick Faldo has some form in the event (beaten in a playoff by Curtis Strange in 1988) and is playing to a peak. Last year, he never picked up any momentum and finished 26th.

Jose Maria Olazabal was the top European finishing 8th, but appears to be off form. Compatriot Seve Ballesteros didn't even make the cut.

So look to another US winner (there hasn't been a 'foreign' champion since Australian David Graham in 1981) and who is to say that Payne Stewart won't win again? In this age of faceless sportsmen, at least you can recognise him in a crowd. ■

WIN! • WIN! • WIN! WIN! • WIN! • WIN! W L A F Goodies

The World League of American Football has had a sensational second season with more record crowds, good TV audiences and fantastic action. The London Monarchs could not reach the heights of 1991, but still kept the home fans feeling good with close contests at their Wembley home stadium. The Monarchs will not be at the World Bowl in Montreal, Canada, this year (you can watch it exclusively live on Screensport at 1.00am on Sunday 7th) but the team's merchandise is still the tops. Now YOU can win some!

The Monarchs have teamed up with one of Europe's top sports channels Screensport to give away six authentic Topley gameshirts and six Campri caps.

To win answer these three simple questions:

1. Which NFL team won the Super Bowl in January?
a Tampa Bay b Green Bay c Washington
2. Which WLAFF team represents Germany?
a Stuttgart b Munich c Frankfurt
3. What is the nickname of the London Monarch's arch rivals from Barcelona?
a Dragons b Beefeaters c Baabaas

Please send your answers on a postcard to WLAFF Competition, Cable Guide, Communications House, 5 Factory Lane, Croydon CR9 3RA. Remember to include your name and address on the card. The winners will be selected at random on 20 June. Good luck!

GOODFELLAS

A movie that dispels the tommy-gun-toting, pinstripe suit image of the Mobster, premieres in this month's week-long series of Gangster films. Directed by Martin Scorsese, GoodFellas follows the life of self confessed mobster Henry Hill in a vivid and sometimes violent paean to street-wise hoods and small-time racketeers. (5th at 10.00pm).

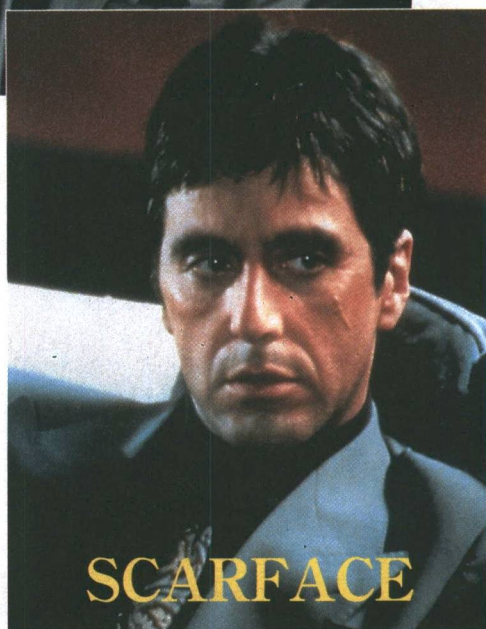

GREMLINS 2: THE NEW BATCH

Although Zach Galligan and Phoebe Cates return in the lead roles and horror veteran Christopher Lee executes a droll turn as a mad genetics scientist, this sequel belongs to the creatures and no-one else. While the cuddly Gizmo will steal your heart with his Fats Domino dance routine, its the reptilian Gremlins, in all their guises, who steal the show! (21st at 8pm).

A NIGHTMARE ON ELM STREET V: THE DREAM CHILD

Freddy Kruger returns to menace the sleepy teens of small-town America. Robert Englund stars as the child-murdering, dream-stalking killer. (20th at 10pm).

SCARFACE

Al Pacino delivers a powerhouse performance in director Brian De Palma's ferocious update of the 1932 classic. Scarface also provides the first screen meeting between Pacino and Michelle Pfeiffer, who plays the long-suffering wife of the drug-dealing and drug-abusing Tony Montana. BRAVO directed by

J. Lee Thompson

...man of action

Industry in the fifties, his reputation seems to have been left behind the camera.

He knew nothing of the cult status enjoyed by today's directors ...in his day, the stars were the stars. To illustrate the point, Martin Scorsese will be remembered for the seriously savage 'Cape Fear', not Lee Thompson, who made the original in 1962. But however anonymous, he's had his moments, as you will see from this month's J. Lee Thompson season on Bravo.

Yvonne Mitchell won a Berlin Festival Award for her moving portrayal of a desperately disorganised wife in 'Woman in a Dressing Gown', an early kitchen sink drama also starring

Back in the days when Steven Spielberg was potty training, and Alan Parker was on Janet and John 3, a young British actor-turned-screenwriter eagerly awaited his directorial debut. It came in 1950 with 'Murder Without Crime', a stagey but competent four-hander starring Dennis Price - directed and written by one J. Lee Thompson. Some 42 years and almost 50 films later, his anonymity survives almost intact, in fact JLT might even be obscure enough to warrant specialist subject status on Mastermind. Yet you've heard of his films: The Academy Award nominated blockbuster 'Guns of Navarone' and the highly successful 'Tiger Bay', starring the lovely Hayley Mills. Also ten films with Charles Bronson and a couple of almost unmentionable sequels to sequels to Planet of the Apes. Despite the obvious occasions when he's just turned over for turnover, Mr Lee Thompson is a very clever director with a strong visual sense and the ability to tell a good story rather well. Being born of the British Film

JUNE

Anthony Quayle and tasty Sylvia Symms as the other woman.

Diana Dors stars as a condemned murderess in the absorbingly dramatic 'Yield to the Night', 'allegedly' based upon the Ruth Ellis case. Miss Dors most compelling performance (without the aid of heavy make-up or gravity-defying bra).

In 'For Better For Worse', Dirk Bogarde and Susan Stephen star in a highly watchable Lee Thompson romantic comedy about the trials of being newly-wed...it's reassuring to see plumbers haven't changed. Excellent stuff from Cecil Parker.

The last of the Lee Thompson quartet, and for me the best, is 'Ice Cold in Alex', starring John Mills, Anthony Quayle, brilliant Harry Andrews and Sylvia Symms. It's a rattling good WW2 yarn of Desert Rats and all that, with some real edge-of-the-seat moments.

Finally, the offbeat 'Hell in the Pacific' is well worth watching - a powerful early John Boorman effort starring Lee Marvin, Toshiro Mifune and a desert island in a mesmeric tale of two enemy soldiers stranded in the Pacific. Weren't movies just made for monkey nuts? Bag some soon. Till then, then.

HAVE GUN. WILL TRAVEL

Richard Boone is Paladin in HAVE GUN, WILL TRAVEL,
Fridays at 3pm,
Mondays at 2am

Paladin is no ordinary gunslinger - he's a suave, sophisticated wealthy and well-educated troubleshooter to whom danger is a way of life. A white knight is his trademark, and the words on his business card say it all - Have Gun, Will Travel.

Everything must stop for 'The New Honeymooners' starring Jackie Gleason, Audrey Meadows and Joyce Randolph. Saturdays at 6.30pm.

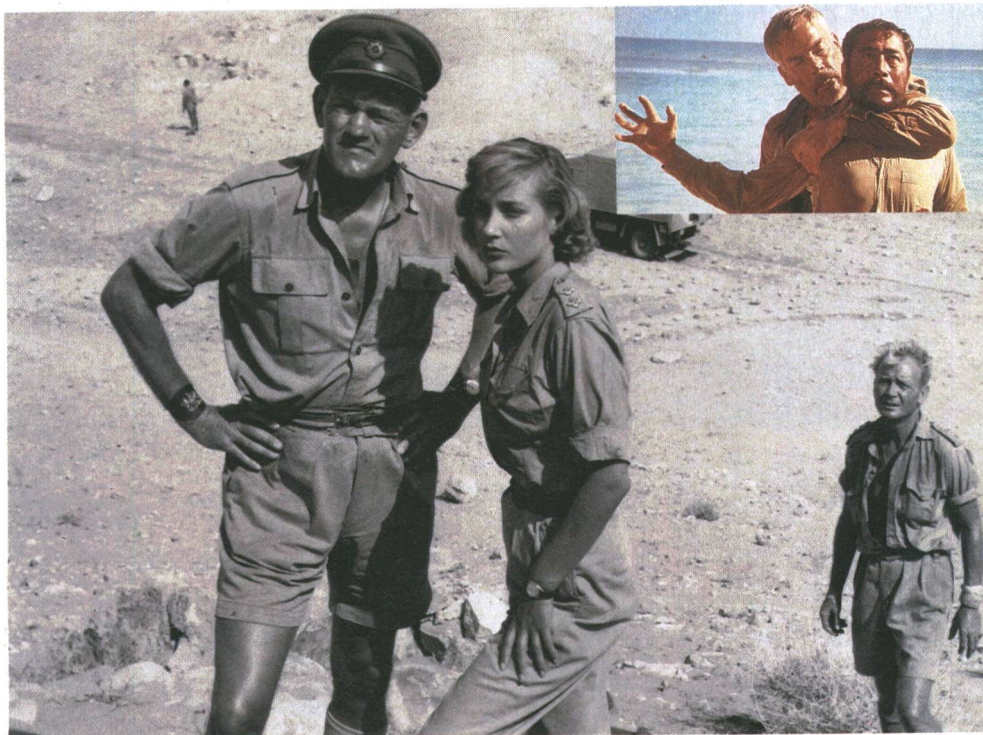

You'll fall in love with the hilarious antics of these not-so-newly weds and their neighbours living an unglamorous life in a run down apartment in Brooklyn.

The Honeymooners

Friend or foe?

Everybody knows war is hell, but very often a lull in the battle's hue and cry turns deadly enemies into unlikely allies.

▲ Above: John Mills and the troops in Ice Cold in Alex. Top; Hell in the Pacific

In 1958 British cinema stalwart John Mills appeared in Ice Cold in Alex, a wartime desert melodrama set in North Africa after the collapse of Tobruk in 1942.

Nothing special about that, you might say, just another war film with Johnnie Mills.

But Alex was different. Different because it took the action away from the battle zone to a hostile arid landscape where, rather than trying to kill each other, a beleaguered group of individuals discards national and political differences in favour of a single-minded bid for survival.

Mills plays a battle-fatigued and boozy tank commander, whose lot is to drive back to Alexandria across the mine-ridden, enemy-occupied Sahara in a rickety old ambulance with two nurses and a trusty sergeant major.

Along the way they pick up a wayward Dutch South African soldier with a curious accent, played by Anthony Quayle, who later turns out to be a nasty Nazi spy. But in the meantime he saves the day time and time again by performing spectacular feats such as acting as a human jack while the ambulance springs are changed.

With a glass of ice cold lager as the incentive to make it to Alex at the end of the day, the stiff upper-lipped survivors must decide whether to turn their enemy-turned-saviour over to the military police. Just which way the vote goes is anybody's guess, but director J Lee Thomson's stark portrayal of desert survival is superb.

Ten years later the focus of fraternisation switched from Germany to Japan for John Boorman's intriguing and well-executed Hell in the Pacific.

Starring only Lee Marvin and Toshio Mifune, it tells the story of a US Marine pilot and a Japanese naval officer, who find themselves all washed up on a desert island in the Pacific during World War II.

At first the dynamic duo is involved in a series of macho standoffs, as they carry the war to their forgotten corner of the globe.

But after the reality of their situation dawns on them, they join forces in order to survive, getting drunk together in one scene in which they discover an abandoned military camp stacked to the ceiling with food, drink and cigarettes. The message is similar to crooner-turned-director Frank Sinatra's earlier offering None But the Brave (1965), but the lone pairing of Marvin and Mifune puts it first across the finishing line.

For those less keen on brotherly love, HVC's Viper returns to the thick of the fighting when a military operation is staged for the purpose of manipulating world powers.

Scarface. Brian DePalma's ultra-violent reworking of Howard Hawk's 1932 classic casts Al Pacino as tough-talking gangster Tony Montana, a Cuban refugee who arrives in America, corners the Miami cocaine market and builds a nationwide crime empire. But the more successful he becomes the further he finds himself inescapably enmeshed in the lethally intoxicating lifestyle of a modern-day gangster. Scripted by Oliver Stone, who also appears in a cameo role.

Today's Choice

8.00pm Bravo. Climbing High. A fine cast including Michael Redgrave, Jessie Matthews and Alastair Sim characterises this light-hearted romantic musical about a rich man who pretends to be a male model in order to win the heart of a young girl. Also on hand is Francis L. Sullivan, saturnine as ever.

Today's Choice

8.00pm The Discovery Channel. A Consuming Passion - An Unofficial History of the America's Cup. It may be ugly and it is certainly not valuable, but over 140 years its enormous attraction has never waned. What is it that draws the backers, the designers, the skippers and the crews to this unusual event? This documentary explores the Cup's intriguing history, capturing the passion that has set this competition apart from all others.

Today's Choice

10.00pm Bravo. Lust For A Vampire. Scandinavian beauty Yutte Stensgaard plays a ravishing young vampiress who is a pupil at an exclusive girls school which just happens to be based in an old castle. Her victims include Michael Johnson, a novelist who comes to the school to study the supernatural, and Ralph Bates who returns as one of the school's professors. A Hammer classic directed by Jimmy Sangster.

Today's Choice

10.00pm The Discovery Channel. Dancing With The Devil. John Tanner attempted to commit suicide after listening to Black Sabbath. 16-year-old Michael Waller killed himself because he thought Ozzy Osbourne's Suicide Solution was the answer to his problems. And in a recent trial Judas Priest and CBS Records were accused of causing the death of two teenagers as a result of hidden messages on their album Stained Glass. Were these kids pushed over the edge by heavy metal music, or were there other, more important factors at work?

Today's Choice

8.00pm Bravo. Very Important Person. A Prisoner of War comedy from director Ken Annakin about a senior British scientist who is captured and imprisoned by the Nazis, and then devises a daring escape plan with the help of his fellow prisoners. Loads of vintage giggles with Leslie Phillips, Stanley Baxter and the overwhelming James Robertson Justice.

Today's Choice

5.00pm Sky Sports. History of the TT Races. A documentary on the most dangerous motorcycle road race in the world. The programme looks at the race's development from 1907, interviews such riders as Hislop, Dunlop and Agostini, and takes a ride on Steve Hislop's Honda. Also included is an interview with the paramedics who attend the crashes on the notorious street circuit.

8.00pm Sky Movies Plus. Lean On Me. A true-life drama based on the life of 'Crazy Joe' Clark, a teacher at a rough inner-city New York school, who ruled his classes not with an iron fist but a Louisville Slugger baseball bat. Morgan Freeman delivers another memorable performance as the forceful but fair Clark, determined to teach his pupils rather than back down in the face of their often violent rebellious tendencies. Rocky's John G Avildsen directs.

12.00midday Sky Movies Plus. Up River. Jeff Corey plays a simple pioneer, pure in word and deed, happily married and living an idyllic life in a sturdy wooden homestead on the Great Plains of North America. But when his wife is raped and killed, he is beaten to within an inch of his life and his home is burnt to a cinder by a fiendish land baron, he sheds his nice guy image and sets out for revenge. Also starring Morgan Stevens.

Today's Choice

7.00pm The Discovery Channel. Testament: Once Upon A Time. Who was Jesus Christ? Did the Exodus really happen? Was there a kingdom of David? The Bible is the most influential book ever written, a remarkable fact considering so little is known about it. But what is the real significance of its stories? Is it a reliable history book, or was it an instrument of propaganda used by the rulers of a crisis-torn nation? Writer and archaeologist John Romer travels through the Middle East and Europe and examines the origins and authorship of the Bible in an attempt to answer some of history's most controversial questions.

9.30pm The Discovery Channel. Body Styles: Second Skin. A look at the more fascinating examples of how we try to transform our appearance - by painting, carving and tattooing the flesh itself, creating extraordinary effects with hair, altering the shape of our limbs and devising ingenious models of dress to reveal or conceal our natural features. Tonight: a range of body decoration from Amazonian Indian to Western street styles, including clay patterns, skin dyes and make-up.

8.00pm Sky Movies Plus. John Savage heads an all-star cast in this political thriller about a reporter investigating a covert global conspiracy in Africa. While there, he unearths a Nazi war criminal, long thought dead, who is hiding out from international law, and finds himself faced with a knotty moral dilemma over how to handle his discovery. Ernest Borgnine, William Hickey and Michael Lerner flesh out the cast.

9.00pm The Discovery Channel. Body Styles: Naked. Another look at the many ways in which we try to transform our appearance, by painting, carving and tattooing the flesh itself, and by creating extraordinary effects with hair, altering the shape of limbs and revealing or concealing our natural features. Tonight: nudity. Should we go about as nature intended? How much have we been influenced by the Adam and Eve story.

Today's Choice

12.25am Bravo. Blood of Dracula. 'In her eyes - desire! In her veins - the blood of a monster!' shrieked the lobby cards of the day, and they were surely right! At the behest of director Herbert L Strock, young Sandra Harrison becomes a vampire when the evil headmistress of her girls' boarding school hypnotises her, much to the chagrin of co-stars Gail Ganley, Jerry Blaine and Louise Lewis.

Today's Choice

8.15pm The Movie Channel. Hidden Agenda. This conspiracy thriller from British director Ken Loach stars Brian Cox as government investigator Peter Kerrigan, sent to Belfast to look into the events surrounding the shooting of an American lawyer (Brad Dourif) by British Security Forces. By teaming up with the dead man's fiancée, human rights activist Ingrid Jessner (Frances McDormand), he uncovers a high-powered conspiracy within the Government, Judiciary and Secret service which justifies the silencing of dissenting voices by any mean necessary.

Today's Choice

1.10am Sky Movies Plus. An Innocent Man. Tom Selleck stars as Jimmie Rainwood in this gritty dramatic thriller from Breaking Away director Peter Yates. Framed by a pair of corrupt narcotics cops to cover up for their botched bust of a crack house, the innocent Rainwood is sent to a maximum-security penitentiary and forced to serve time with a mob of violent hardened criminals. Managing to survive his time in the Big House by befriending influential inmate Virgil Cane (F. Murray Abraham), Rainwood soon finds himself on parole, free to settle a score with the cops who destroyed his life.

The Ultimate Warrior issues his challenge

The race to sudden death!

June sees the start of a busy athletics schedule on Sky Sports

At 11.00pm on Sunday 21st Sky Sports is crossing the Atlantic to cover the US Track and Field Olympic Trials.

The City of New Orleans is hosting the week-long event, which is like an Olympic Games in itself such is the depth of talent in America.

The Americans are unique in their in their approach to Olympic selections.

Past form and titles are not taken into account – the competition is sudden death and there is no room for respecting reputations.

At New Orleans the first three (or four depending on the event) past the post will claim their place in the American team for Barcelona.

This may seem a cruel, ruthless way to select athletes for the greatest sporting event in the world, but when you consider that the Americans could provide all eight contenders in the Olympic 100 metres final, it is the easiest route.

The US Olympic trials have in the past produced dramatic results and shattered dreams. The potential for upset is enormous: amid the hustle and bustle of qualifying rounds the Olympic careers of such legends as Carl Lewis could be over in less than 10 seconds.

Some titanic athletic struggles are promised at these trials. Mike Powell, who last year broke the 23-year-old record of Bob Beamon, will take on Carl Lewis in the long jump. Lewis wants revenge over Powell, whose Tokyo victory was the first time Lewis had been humbled in the event for 10 years.

Sky Sports will round off the action from New Orleans on Friday 26th, with the final Olympic places being decided on Monday 29th at 8.30pm. The pace continues with international competition from Helsinki on Tuesday 30th, where British athletes such as Linford Christie and Colin Jackson continue their Olympic countdown. ■ your first figure in this stunning Collection, is shown here taller than her actual elegant height of 8 1/2".

ROYAL WORCESTER

THE ROARING TWENTIES

COLLECTION

RECAPTURED ON ENGLISH FINE BONE CHINA FOR JUST £49.50

CHAMPAGNE and jazz...Charlestons and flappers...glamour and gaiety. This was the exciting, exhilarating 1920s. An age now vividly brought alive in a sensational new Collection of fashionable figurines from Royal Worcester.

'Daisy' is the first figurine. The epitome of sophistication. A classic beauty sculpted to perfection.

Extravagant silk embraces her slender form. Shimmers on the pleats of her elegant chemise dress. Glistens on her spectacular sweeping sash. Shines on her sublime cloche hat.

Each detail is perfectly recreated from original 1920s 'haute couture'. Handcrafted to the highest quality by world renowned Royal Worcester. Fashioned in gleaming cream 'Wallbody' English fine bone china. Exclusively from Compton & Woodhouse.

'Daisy' is a fascinating blend of Beauty. Extravagance. Sophistication. Style. Glamour. A Glamour which you can bring into your home today for just £49.50, without any obligation whatsoever. Each figurine in the Collection will be sent to you on the same no-obligation basis. Choose as few or as many as you like. To acquire 'Daisy', please order by 25th September 1992.

Delivery: Please allow up to 12 weeks for delivery.

TIME WELL SPENT...

The greatest investment of all.

A multifunctional stainless steel chronograph watch for the man who knows that time is the greatest asset. Selectively coloured in 22 carat gold with international sailing flag accents.

You're a man for whom time is measured by the success you achieve. Time well spent in pursuit of adventure... in pursuit of the best things in life. A man whose aspirations are boundless and who knows that time itself is the greatest asset in your continual quest for the best.

Now, for you, comes The Watch for Success. A masterful chronograph watch of bold stainless steel with handsome accents selectively coloured with gold. A stainless steel rotating bezel frames the mariner blue watch face embellished with international sailing flags marking the hours. The quartz chronograph movement's functions include 24 hour alarm, a countdown timer and a precision stop-watch. And the watch is water resistant to 100 metres in depth. Complete with a rugged tan leather band.

World-class style to be worn day and night. Priced at £395, payable in convenient monthly instalments. Exclusively from Franklin Mint.
